

Circus Blaze Toll 250

Worst Fire
On Record
For Circuses

NITEROI, Brazil (AP)—Fire roared through a nylon circus tent Sunday afternoon as 2,500 persons watched a performance. Police estimated 250 were killed.

It was Brazil's worst disaster and the worst circus fire in history, worse than the Ringling Bros. fire in Hartford, Conn., in 1944 in which 168 died.

Officials early today said 180 bodies had been recovered, many of them children. An estimated 500 injured, some seriously.

Gov. Celso Pecanha of Rio de Janeiro State said arson was suspected. Niteroi is across Guanabara Bay from Rio de Janeiro.

The fire flashed up the tent as two trapeze performers began their aerial act. Within five minutes the flames had enveloped the mammoth tent and seared the ropes. The blazing mass fell on the spectators.

Some were trapped in their seats. Others could not get near the exits. Some were trampled to death.

Fear-crazed women and children rushed for the exits, fell atop each other and caught fire.

"I've seen some horrible things, but I never thought I would ever see anything so horrible," said a policeman.

Trucks transferred the bodies to the city morgue. When it was filled, they were taken to the city's soccer stadium. Hundreds of persons searching for missing relatives added to the confusion.

Treatment of the hundreds of injured was hampered by shortages of medicine, blood plasma, hospital beds, doctors and nurses. Air force helicopters flew medicine and plasma from Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo. Radio appeals brought doctors and nurses from Rio.

Niteroi's five hospitals were filled. Others of the injured were ferried across the bay to Rio hospitals.

All of the circus' 150 animals were rescued. Three elephants broke their chains and escaped.

Death Sentence Appeal Is Filed For Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP)—One of Adolf Eichmann's attorneys Sunday filed notice of appeal against the death sentence given the former Gestapo official.

The Israeli Supreme court is expected to start hearings in January on the appeal.

Eichmann's attorneys, Robert Servatius and Dieter Wechtenbruch, are expected to challenge the conviction with the claims that their client was unlawfully returned to Israel, that Israel had no right to try Eichmann for crimes committed before Israel was a state and that the death sentence was not justified.

Eichmann is being held in the prison at Ramleh, 10 miles east of Tel Aviv. He has no contact with any other prisoner and is shackled and handcuffed when he walks in the prison yard.

Officials at the prison said they were constantly on guard to prevent an attempt on Eichmann's life by other prisoners.

Preliminary Hearing For Dorothy Harris

A preliminary hearing on the case of Mrs. Dorothy Harris, 119 North Broadway, charged with felonious assault in connection with the stabbing of John E. Pearson, 209 East St. Louis, near the Main Street Bar Nov. 25, was held in Magistrate Court Monday morning.

In the hearing, Pearson testified the stabbing was caused by a dispute over some car keys. He said Otis Harris, husband of Mrs. Harris, had asked him to take him home, and gave him the car keys to the Harris car.

He said Mrs. Harris objected to him taking Harris home, and the dispute resulted.

Judge Frank Armstrong ruled that a crime had been committed and that Mrs. Harris might be guilty. He bound the case over to Circuit Court for trial. Mrs. Harris is free on a $1,000 bond.

AN UNIDENTIFIED FIREMAN enters the Ronspiez home at 1214 East 12th in a cloud of smoke. Mrs. Roy Ronspiez was found unconscious on the floor of an enclosed porch to

Firefighters' Fast Action Saves Woman In Home Fire

Mrs. Goldie Ronspiez, 48, may have lost her life from suffocation about 8 o'clock Sunday night when her home caught fire and she was overcome by smoke in trying to escape to the outside, had it not been for Sedalia firemen who went to work quickly to revive her.

It was 7:58 o'clock when fire companies received the alarm for 1214 East 12th Street. Upon arrival two lines of hose were laid from the East Sedalia truck, when someone said they believed there was a woman in the house.

Fire Chief Emmett "Potts" Vaught, who wasn't on duty but went to the fire in his car, accompanied by Capt. Willis Jabas, called to firemen in the burning bed rooms to see if a woman was there. After failing to find the woman, firemen rushed to the rear of the house. Inside the enclosed back porch they found Mrs. Ronspiez lying on the floor unconscious.

Traffic Toll Count to 11 For Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven persons died in traffic accidents in Missouri during the weekend.

Elmus Miller, 52, St. Louis, was killed by a truck as he walked along U. S. Highway 61-67 near Imperial Sunday night. Authorities said the truck driver was Andrew Tinker, 28, of DeSoto, Mo.

Two accidents Saturday killed a total of six persons. Three died on U. S. 66, 15 miles west of Lebanon when a car struck a bridge. They were Herbert Silkey, 63, his wife, 65, and Mrs. Lela Campbell, all of Champaign, Ill.

Three were killed in a three-car wreck near Malden Saturday during a rainstorm. The dead were Mrs. Verda Richie Haskins, 53, of Malden, Walter W. Kayser, 45, of Glennville, Mo., and his wife Hilda E. Kayser.

Cloyce H. King, 38, of Bernie, Mo., received minor injuries.

The accident occurred on a Dunklin County road. The highway patrol said Kayser was passing a westbound pickup truck driven by King. Mrs. Haskins saw the vehicles approaching and applied her brakes. Her car skidded sideways and was struck broadside by the Kayser car. King's truck hit the rear of Kayser's car.

A Whiteman Air Force Base airman, John L. Walton, 17, of Augusta, Ga., was killed Saturday night when a car struck a culvert on U. S. 50, four miles east of Warrensburg. Four other airmen were injured.

Mrs. Ellen Valenti, 20, St. Louis, was fatally injured Saturday in that city when the police cruiser in which she was riding was in a collision with another car. Mrs. Valenti was accompanying her husband, who had been injured in an earlier accident, to the hospital.

The husband, Albert, 24, suffered head and spinal injuries in the first crash. Mrs. Valenti had not been injured in that wreck.

Joseph Franklin, 59, of St. Louis was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding skidded into the path of another auto in St. Louis.

Mrs. Regina Kramer, 53, of Ferguson, a St. Louis suburb, was killed Sunday in the collision of a pickup truck and a car in St. Louis County. Her husband, Frank, 57, driver of the truck, was seriously hurt.

when Vaught called to another fireman to get the resuscitator from the fire truck, and Jabas and others carried the woman to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brown, 1208 East 12th, and into a bedroom.

Chief Vaught, Jabas and Ed Shine, fireman, began administering oxygen to Mrs. Ronspiez, and after about 10 minutes she began breathing easier. The McLaughlin ambulance arrived, and she was carried to the vehicle with firemen carrying the resuscitator and continuing to administer oxygen until they arrived at Bothwell Hospital.

Her husband, Roy Ronspiez, had gone to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Tom Darrow, 1020 South Ohio, for a few minutes and had started home when he saw the fire companies making the run. When he turned on to 12th Street he saw the trucks in front of his home and told them his wife must still be in the house, it was then the search for Mrs. Ronspiez was made. He accompanied her to the hospital in the ambulance, as did Chief Vaught and Jabas.

Mrs. Ronspiez was given treatment at the hospital by Dr. J. W. Maunders.

She was listed in fair condition at the hospital Monday.

The fire started in a front bedroom, spread to a rear bedroom, and the heat was so intense it created considerable damage in the living room. Other rooms in the house were damaged from the intense smoke. Fire had burned through the ceilings of the two bedrooms and through the wall which had separated them.

Chief Vaught said he had not determined what caused the blaze, but it had gained considerable headway before firemen arrived on the scene. Several thousand dollars in damage resulted.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Does Missouri need higher state taxes? If so, what taxes should be increased? Or could any of them be cut out—the property tax, for example?

Gov. John M. Dalton announced today Comptroller Charles D. Trigg is starting a tax study to find the answer to these and other financial questions. Dalton has expressed opposition to any additional tax increases. He told newsmen the study would look into the possibility that the sales or income taxes might have to be increased to meet the state's needs. Or, he suggested, it might be possible to cut out the property tax and get rid of its terrible assessment problems.

Sunday a Republican legislator, Rep. R. J. (Bus) King of St. Louis County, estimated the next legislature would face the problem of making up about $40 million to keep the state operating at its present level.

Dalton said he thought it was too early to tell how much money would be needed in the 1963-65 biennium. Maybe, he said, the tax study can produce some answers by next November or December.

The legislature passed a bill calling for a tax study by an interim committee of senators and representatives and appropriated $10,000 for its use. But the governor vetoed the bill, saying it was unnecessary.

The administration study will include an attempt to develop a 10-year operating plan for the state government, a long range capital improvement budget and will analyze tax enforcement problems. Each agency will be asked for ideas on saving money.

After pushing into the town against negligible resistance, the U.N. troops ran into withering fire from shops and private houses. It is uncertain whether the firing came from Katanga troops or whites putting up a last ditch stand.

These seemed to be the last hours before most of Elisabethville fell to the slowly advancing U.N. force.

Big Day for Postal Workers

PACKAGES PILE UP—Sedalia postal employees are handling thousands of parcel post packages daily at the National Guard armory as the Christmas mailing rush nears its peak. Workers braced themselves Monday for a nationally predicted crest in volume which should bring more mail than ever into the local office. Sorting and distribution operations for parcel post moved to the armory last week where more space is available. Inspecting a pile of packages are: Don Aschbacher, 1718 East Fifth; John Atkinson, 805 East 13th; and Raymond Barklage, 1106 West Second. At right, Atkinson prepares to start opening a tall pile of mail sacks—each loaded with more parcels. (Democrat-Capital photos.)

Stores Open Late To Accommodate Yuletide Shoppers

Sedalia merchants begin stretching out their store hours in earnest this week as the Christmas shopping rush nears its peak.

Stores will remain open until 8:30 p.m. each night this week to accommodate late shoppers. Most all merchants began schedules of expanded hours several weeks ago with Mondays and several other nights of late hours added.

Chamber of Commerce officials said in most cases the late hours will continue through Saturday. Some merchants, however, plan to close earlier on Saturday, it was indicated.

Glenn Lewis Hit By Truck On Main St.

CITY COUNCILMAN E. Glenn Lewis was admitted to Bothwell Hospital Monday morning after being struck by a truck at the intersection of Main and Osage at 10:15 a.m.

Lewis was taken to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance shortly after the accident, where he was given emergency treatment by Dr. Thomas Hopkins. Lewis complained of injuries around the hips and neck.

X-rays were taken of the injured areas and it was reported that there are no broken bones. The X-rays will be studied during the observation period. Lewis also suffered various bruises and a skinned right elbow.

The accident was reported to the local police by Omer Garrett. (Please turn to page 2, column 8)

Streets Scene Of Hot Battles

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Furious battles raged in the streets of Elisabethville today as the first U.N. armored patrol pushed into the center of the city.

After pushing into the town against negligible resistance, the U.N. troops ran into withering fire from shops and private houses. It is uncertain whether the firing came from Katanga troops or whites putting up a last ditch stand.

Two Portugal Enclaves Fall To 'Liberators' From India

For Freedom Riders

High Court Rejects Stay of Proceeding

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court unanimously refused today to order a stay of proceedings against "Freedom Riders" arrested in Jackson, Miss.

The court acted on a request by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which protested asserted delays in trials and burdens inflicted on the arrested persons "by virtue of the vexatious multiple prosecution program."

The court's action was announced in an order which said that the persons asking that the Jackson proceedings be stayed were apparently not those being prosecuted in Mississippi courts.

Today's action by the high tribunal came one week after it struck down "breach of the peace" convictions of 16 Negro sit-in demonstrators who tried to desegregate lunch counters in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

That decision last Monday did not decide broad constitutional questions raised in the cases. It was based on the comparatively narrow ground that there was no evidence the defendants breached the peace.

Today's refusal to stay the Jackson proceedings does not necessarily mean the Supreme Court might not act on the cases later, after the state courts act.

The Supreme Court's order today commented that "a federal injunction to stay state criminal proceedings is an extraordinary remedy."

The court added: "In addition to the considerations normally attending an application for such relief, a serious question of standing is presented on this motion (for a stay), in that it appears that the movants (those making the motion) themselves are not being prosecuted in the Mississippi Courts. On the record before us, the motion for a stay injunction pending appeal is denied."

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A grassroots effort was launched today to solve this embattled south Georgia city's bitter segregation controversy with a minimum of outside help.

Under discussion in biracial talks was a proposal to ease up for 60 days the integration struggle, which has landed more than 700 Negroes in jail within a week.

Prominent in the deliberations was Marion S. Page, local Negro leader who said he and his associates welcome outside help but "as of now, we need no help."

He and two Negro lawyers, C. B. King of Albany and Donald L. Hollowell of Atlanta, went into conference with Mayor Asa D. Kelley and Police Chief Laurie Pritchett after the mayor had conferred with members of the city council.

One suggestion was that all except 11 of the 400 Negroes remaining in jail be released and their trials be delayed for two months while down-to-earth attempts are made to resolve the entire dispute. The 11 not included in the proposal are "Freedom Riders" whose arrest precipitated mass demonstrations.

Officials viewed with obvious favor a position Page has taken for local determination of the issues.

At a news conference in Atlanta, Gov. Ernest Vandiver charged today that outside agitators connected with organizations having a subversive background were responsible for the Albany demonstrations.

He said this information had been transmitted to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy by Mayor Kelley, who provided Kennedy with six names.

"We have information that six outside agitators were sent into Albany several weeks ago to stir up trouble and they are still there," Vandiver said, "they have been connected with organizations which have been designated as subversive."

Portugal Asks Urgent Security Council Meet

BOMBAY, India (AP)—India today claimed capture of two Portuguese enclaves—Damao and Diu—and gains on all sectors in a lightning campaign against Goa, the third and largest of Portugal's possessions on the sub-continent.

Portugal asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council and a denunciation of India "for an unprovoked military aggression."

Spurning a U.N. appeal for negotiations, Prime Minister Nehru sent troops, tanks, warships and bombers of this second most populous of the world's nations against the tiny territories under Portugal's flag since the 16th century.

The Indian government announced in New Delhi that Damao and Diu, north of Bombay, were "liberated" in this first day of what Nehru termed a police action.

A spokesman for Nehru's regime, leader of the Asian-African neutralist bloc, announced the Indian navy put a Portuguese warship out of action in a sea battle off Goa, 200 miles south of Bombay.

Portugal, a charter member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, said it had only one warship in the area, the 30-year-old sloop Alfonso de Albuquerque.

The National Information Secretariat in Lisbon denied India's claim to occupation of Diu and Damao. It said the defenders were using a scorched earth policy in all three enclaves, plus minefields to hinder Indian advances. A Goa radio broadcast said the Indians suffered heavy losses in battles near two towns, Sanquilem and Sarvona.

India was expected to come under sharp criticism for the military action which began Sunday.

The invasion of Goa, Damao and Diu came after U.N. acting Secretary-General U. Thant failed to get Indian Prime Minister Nehru to negotiate with Portuguese Premier Antonio Salazar over the enclaves.

The United Nations released Thant's messages to Nehru and Salazar about an hour before the invasion news came and their replies to him a few hours afterward.

He sent both men identical cables Thursday appealing to them to see that the situation on the borders of the three enclaves on the west coast of India did not deteriorate into a threat to peace.

"I would urge immediate negotiations with a view to achieving an early solution of the problem," Thant said.

Salazar accepted the suggestion for negotiations. Nehru's rejection said India had consistently lived up to the United Nations charter, but Portugal had "consistently ignored United Nations resolutions on ending colonialism" and refused to send the United Nations required reports on her colonies.

"It is hardly possible," Nehru said, "to negotiate on the basis of the charter provisions with a government who take their stand on 16th century concepts of colonial conquests by force."

Nehru accused the Portuguese of repressing the inhabitants of the territories and staging daily raids into India.

Faith Is Restored

Sgt. Charles Homan of the Sedalia Police Department said today his faith in human nature has been restored.

Homan said that about three years ago, about Christmas time, a young sailor came into the police station to warm up. Homan was acting desk sergeant. The sailor told Homan he had a bus ticket back to his base on the west coast, but that he was broke and hungry.

The sailor asked Homan to loan him a dollar. Homan said he offered to give the sailor the dollar, but the sailor insisted it be given in the form of a loan, and took down Homan's name and address.

Today in the morning mail Homan received a Christmas card from Dewey Relesco. Enclosed was a one-dollar bill.

High Court Will Review Smith Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision that a corporation officer may not be prosecuted under the Sherman act for anti-trust violations alleged to have been committed in carrying out his corporate duties.

The decision, by U. S. District Judge R. Jasper Smith in Kansas City, was appealed to the high tribunal by the Justice Department.

Judge Smith dismissed an indictment against Raymond J. Wise, a vice president and director of National Dairy Products Corp. The indictment charged National and Wise with conspiring to eliminate price competition in fluid milk sold in the Kansas City area.

In dismissing the indictment as to Wise, the judge held a corporate officer "charged solely in his representative capacity and not in any degree on an individual basis for his own personal account" could be prosecuted only under the 1914 Clayton anti-trust act.

The Clayton act provides a $5,000 fine and one year imprisonment as a maximum penalty. The 1890 Sherman act now provides a maximum $50,000 fine and one year in prison.

Judge Smith also dismissed seven counts of an indictment charging National with violating the Robinson-Patman act by making milk sales below cost. The judge ruled that a section of the act involved, outlawing sales at unreasonably low prices for the purpose of destroying competition, was unconstitutionally vague.

Yule Greetings From Billboards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Secretary of State Warren E. Hearnes, considered by political observers a potential candidate for governor in 1964, is extending holiday greetings to Missourians by a series of large billboards scattered throughout the state.

The signs are decorated in a holiday motif and proclaim in large letters: "Season greetings from Warren E. Hearnes, secretary of state."

In smaller print it says that they are "paid for by friends of Warren E. Hearnes."

Hearnes, who was elected last year, said 37 of the billboards are on display in the state.

Prison Food Strike By Negroes Waning

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A strike against prison food seems to be waning among a group of 64 Negroes arrested during anti-segregation demonstrations.

Capt. Thomas T. Edwards of the sheriff's office said women prisoners began eating jail fare Sunday night after all prisoners had refused meals since the previous day.

Seventy-three Negroes—44 men and 29 women—were jailed Thursday and Friday after demonstrations led by the Congress of Racial Equality against stores it accused of discriminating in hiring and maintaining segregated lunch counters. Nine prisoners were released on bond.

The Ottaville Baptist Church, officiated.

Miss Elsie Thomas and Mrs. Parthena Huntress sang "In the Garden" and "Abide With Me," accompanied by Mrs. John Kelley.

Burial was in the Bethlehem Cemetery. The body was at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Edgar Lee Wells Rites
Funeral services for Edgar Lee Wells, 79, 508 East Fourth, who died at Bothwell Hospital Friday, were held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Monday. The Rev. H. E. Trevathan, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis sang "Face to Face" and "The Old Rugged Cross," accompanied by Mrs. H. O. Foraker at the organ.

Burial was in the Pilot Grove Cemetery.

Terry Phillip Prenger Rites
Gravestone burial services for Terry Phillip Prenger, one-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert W. Prenger, 1012 East Seventh, who died at Bothwell Hospital Friday, were at Calvary Cemetery at 10 a.m. Monday.

The Rev. Father F. C. Laudick of the Sacred Heart Church officiated. The body was at the Ewing Funeral Home until the hour of the service.

At 1:48 a.m. Monday Chris Rau, Route 2, reported that while his car was parked at Hillcrest Lanes, on Highway 65 south of the Sedalia City limits, someone ransacked his car and took about one-half carton of cigarettes, some cigars and about $35 in cash. He valued the total theft at $45.

Sunday evening police were notified that a fight might be in progress at Fifth and Lamine. Officers picked up three juveniles and took them to the station. After attempts to locate Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn failed, the juveniles' names were taken and they were released.

Medical Dean Is Dismissed At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. James W. Colbert Jr., key figure in a lengthy row involving the St. Louis University Medical School faculty, has been fired.

The Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S. J., president of the university, said Saturday that Colbert, dean of the Medical School since 1953, was discharged for "serious deficiencies in his administrative attitudes and procedures."

Dean Colbert said he was given no reason for the dismissal and it caught him by surprise.

The Medical School hassle came to light when Dr. Colbert fired 149 part-time faculty members, most of whom served without pay. He said they didn't fulfill two requirements put into effect early this year.

These requirements were that the doctors send their private patients to hospitals of the Catholic university's medical center and that they "accept their educational responsibilities when assigned."

Myra Smith's Will Sets Up Scholarship for Sedalian.

In the will of Miss Myra Virginia Smith, who died Aug. 23, 1961, was the request that the funds from her estate, totaling about $500,000, be used to establish six scholarship funds at the University of Chicago, the scholarships to go to students from five cities, one of which is Sedalia. Miss Myra, as she was called, was 80 years old at the time of her death, and moved to Sedalia when she was seven years old with her parents, A. J. and Lillie Smith. Her father was superintendent of schools here from 1888 to 1893 and the family lived at 622 West Broadway.

Although most Sedalians never heard of Myra Smith at least one man, Irwin Raut, remembers her well. The Smith family lived across the street from him when he was a little boy.

She did not come back here to visit, but Myra Smith always loved Sedalia and was happy when Sedalians visited her, which Mr. Raut, his late wife, Florence, and her sister, Mrs. Patsy Kahrs, did several years ago. Miss Smith insisted they be overnight guests. Always, too, at Christmas time, they had a card from her.

Except for a few minor bequests to relatives and servants, the estate was left to the University of Chicago to provide scholarship funds honoring the memory of her parents, her brother and herself, the one in Sedalia to her father's memory, for here he had served as superintendent of schools. Others are Springfield, Ill., where the family went from here, where both of her parents taught and where her father was also superintendent of schools; Senn High School, Chicago, where she taught; Fort Smith, Ark., where her brother, Dr. Raymond Tillotson Smith, was a physician; Natchez, Miss., where Dr. Smith practiced medicine and where Miss Smith lived.

The selection of the scholarship recipient is to be made by the superintendent of the respective school system.

Miss Smith, in her will, stipulated that each of the scholarship recipients should be given the following letter:

"This scholarship, entitling you for one academic year to the privileges offered by The University of Chicago, has been given you by Myra Virginia Smith, honoring the memory of her parents, A. J. and Lillie V. Smith, or of her brother, Dr. Raymond Tillotson Smith, as the case may be, to encourage and assist you in developing the qualities of a scholar:

"These qualities include:
 "Honesty of thought, of word, of deed; courage, both moral and physical; humility;
 "Generosity of cheerfulness as well as of service and of financial aid; tolerance;
 "Loyalty to institutions and to persons; patience with, and respect for, the capacities, whether great or small, of others;

 "Diligence in the search for truth; an insatiable curiosity;
 "A sense of humor to help maintain your mental equilibrium under trying circumstances; respect for, and obedience to, authority;

"And an appreciation of the duty of participating in local, state, and federal governments, at least to the extent of thoughtful exercise of the right to vote.

"It is inevitable that, in proportion to the extent you develop these qualities, your life will become richer and lasting benefits will accrue to others."

Miss Smith was graduated from the University of Chicago on Dec. 16, 1902 with an A. B. in liberal arts. She later attended the University as a graduate student in 1905, 1915, 1916, 1917 and the summer of 1936.

She taught French in Senn High School in Chicago and for the first time in 1925 saw D'Evereux, the old mansion she restored in Natchez, Miss. At that time she had been teaching 19 years, and the gray and neglected home, which had suffered during the Civil War and its aftermath, had managed to retain much of its beauty until 1931, when the widow of William St. John Elliot died. Then the decline began and it became known in the community as "The Haunted House." An old superstition about the ghosts of two Yankee soldiers who were hanged on the grounds had been repeated through the years.

Miss Smith's impression of the once grand mansion when she first saw it, according to the University of Chicago research, were:

"The galleries were sagging, plaster was coming down, rats had eaten through the baseboard, silverfish had devoured the wall paper, and 200 panes of glass were needed.

"But I was entranced. The house was dilapidated, but it had the Pilgrimage Garden Club of a grandeur and a perfection of proportion that fascinated me. A mysterious sense of destiny seized me and I felt I had to own it!"

In a month she did own it, and the townspeople smiled. This Yankee woman thought she could bring back this mansion that had been dead for 50 years. But in two years the mansion began to flower.

From 1925 until she retired in 1941, she spent her summer vacations and holidays there. She filled it with furniture brought from her old home in Springfield, Ill., antiques which had belonged to her grandmother, and from various antique sales.

In 1927 her brother, Dr. Raymond Smith, and his wife moved interest in a 1,000 acre property in and continued to live there until 1935 when Dr. Smith died.

Through the years Miss Smith became active in the community and among other civic affairs was one of the original members of the Pilgrimage Garden Club of Natchez and D'Evereux has become a major attraction of the famed Natchez Pilgrimage each year. During this period the grand ante-bellum homes in the area are opened to the public, and Miss Smith, in an ante-bellum gown, would personally greet a visitor, averaging 400 a day, coming into D'Evereux. On her record day, she greeted 1,200 visitors.

The home was built in 1846 for Elliot by James Hardy, a prominent architect of the period.

In addition to the home Miss Smith also left the following property to the University: a 400 acre cotton plantation near Charleston, Miss., and one half adjoining; 11 acres of so-called mountain property near Bat Cave, N. C., and $273,191 in stocks and bonds, and $65,728 in cash.

At Extension Office

Fallout Shelter Plans Available

Plans and information on constructing fallout shelters can be obtained at Pettis County's Extension Service Office, 606 South Massachusetts, County Agent Merle Vaughan announces.

The government has assigned fallout information responsibility to 10,000 in Missouri) to the extension service branches of the nation's land-grant colleges. The University of Missouri has set up a committee of experts in answer to this directive and Vaughan works with them in making information available in our county.

You can protect yourself and your family from radioactive fallout. To do so, pick the best shelter area you have and prepare for a two week stay there. This may not be as good a shelter as you would like to have but it can be improved as you are able to do so. And right now is the time to take at least temporary steps.

Protection from radioactive fallout is provided by shielding with a large weight of material between you and the fallout. This reduces the gamma radiation from the fallout. Gamma radiation, like X-Rays, penetrates all materials but the heavier the material the less comes through.

The following are some places that offer fallout protection:

The center of a frame house reduces the hazard to — 1/2.

The basement of a house reduces the hazard to — 1-10.

An improvised refuse in a barn can reduce the hazard to — 1-10.

An improvised basement refuge can reduce the hazard to — 1-100.

A food storage or storm cellar with 2 feet of soil on top reduces the hazard to — 1-1000.

A basement fallout shelter can reduce the hazard to — 1-1000.

A cave or mine or tunnel can reduce the hazard to — 1-1000 or less.

It is desirable to have a shelter which reduces the hazard to at least 1-100. However, even if you only have a shelter which reduces the hazard to 1-10, such as a basement, your chances of surviving would be three times as great as without any shelter.

Thus, use whatever shelter area you have available now and stock it with water and food and other supplies for at least a two week stay. Then improve this shelter as you are able.

Continue Effort To Free Hound From Old Mine

GILBERT, W.Va. (AP)—Brownie the hound began his 50th day in underground confinement today as a bulldozer chugged closer to his rescue.

The earth-moving equipment was brought here from Bluefield Saturday in an effort to free 3-year-old Brownie from an abandoned and caved-in mine shaft in which he became entrapped while chasing a rabbit seven weeks ago.

Brownie's plight has brought offers of help from persons in West Virginia and other states.

Brownie, the pet of Richard Hatfield, 21, has lived on underground water and on food scraps that Hatfield has been able to slip to him through a crevice.

Three weekend searchers almost got lost themselves while exploring mine corridors in an effort to locate a possible entry to Brownie's chamber. They could not leave the mine the same way they entered because of a rock fall, but after a time, they found another way out.

The bulldozer spent most of Sunday carving out an access road to the mountainside rescue scene.

Great Differences In Lamb Performance

There are significant differences in the performance of lambs from outstanding rams, according to Bill Sellers, assistant in animal husbandry at the University of Missouri.

In tests, 73 lambs from four rams, were compared from birth to slaughter.

All of the rams were equal in appearance and had been used as stud rams in commercial sheep flocks in the state.

Lambs from one sire were significantly heavier at birth and weaning time than lambs from the other three sires. These lambs also produced carcasses with heavier legs, loin, rack, and shoulder. These are the four primal meat cuts in lambs.

However, lambs from another ram made faster and more efficient gains in the feedlot. And lambs from still another sire produced heavier fleeces.

This is the first year's results in a study of differences between lambs from quality rams. These results indicate the potential value of performance testing, Sellers says.

Additional shielding can be provided in any building by getting under a table and putting furniture, newspapers, books, food or any other material around and over you. The more material there is around you the less likely you are to become sick or die. For example a 24-inch thickness of books stacked around and over you will reduce the hazard any place to 1-10 of what it would be otherwise.

While improvising can provide protection from fallout, building a regular fallout shelter provides greater protection. Mr. Vaughan invites you to call on him for information about how to prepare and stock fallout shelters. One of the Government bulletins he has on hand, titled, "The Family Fallout Shelter," describes a basement fallout shelter which can be made from about $225 worth of materials. Other shelters are included which provide greater protection at somewhat greater expense.

Many people mistakenly believe that air will become unfit to breathe because of the radiation from fallout. The air itself is not harmed. Once it is free of the radioactive dust particles it is safe to breathe. Fallout is not likely to enter the average home, so the air inside will be safe to breathe. Suggestions for ventilation and air filtering are also available.

New Publication Describes SPF Pig Difficulties

"Raising SPF Pigs" is the title of a new circular published by the University of Missouri Extension Service.

It was written by Loren D. Kintner, staff member of the University's School of Veterinary Medicine.

A method has been developed to break the chain of disease transmission from disease carrier sows to baby pigs. A copyrighted phrase has been coined to describe pigs produced in this way. It is "Specific Pathogen-Free Pigs." The words are abbreviated to SPF pigs.

A pathogen is a disease producing agent, Kintner explains. Thus the phrase, "specific pathogen-free pigs," means a pig that is free of certain specific diseases. He is free of virus pneumonia, external parasites, and bloody diarrhea.

All of these diseases depend upon direct exposure with other pigs that have the disease. The herd will remain free of these diseases as long as there is no exposure to non-SPF pigs or their excreta.

Diseases such as round worm infestations, erysipelas, and others cannot be prevented because the agents that cause these diseases live in the soil.

The new circular describes briefly how SPF pigs are produced, their advantages and disadvantages, and how to get SPF pigs.

Copies of this circular, No. 740, can be obtained at county extension offices or by writing to the Mailing Room, Waters Hall, Columbia.

Air Force Buys Nut Shells To Clean Engines

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Air material area headquarters at Brookley Air Force Base is buying 966,000 pounds of pecan, almond and walnut shells.

The contractor promised to toss in some peach, cherry and apricot pits for good measure at the going rate of 5 cents a pound, the Air Force said.

The shells and seeds will be ground up and blasted through jet engines to clean them. Sand and other abrasives have been used in the past. The Air Force said it is switching to nut shells because they're cheaper and easier on the engines.

Hog Feeding Bulletin Available

One of the hog feeding materials discussed at the hog feeding meeting Monday, Dec. 18, was the new Pork Production bulletin

No. 734. While the bulletin is on pork production in general, it contains a number of tables on feeding.

Table four lists rations for sows and gilts while table five is rations for self feeding pregnant sows and gilts. They also discussed silage for gestation.

Chapter seven is titled "Feeding from Weaning to Market."

Table seven discusses the value of grains per pound in comparison to shelled corn as a feed for hogs.

Protein requirements of swine is the title of table eight, while table nine is protein supplements for swine. As part of that section there is also a table entitled parts of corn to be mixed with one part of protein supplements to make a complete ration.

Growing-finishing rations is the title of table ten. Here we have two rations to be used from weaning to 125 pounds and choice of two other rations to use from 125 pounds to market weight.

Table 11 is entitled supplementation of swine rations with antibiotics and arsenicals. The bulletin also discusses vitamins and minerals.

The last section is feed and water space requirements for hogs. This last table lists the number of head per automatic watering cup, on self feeders the head per hole or linear foot, and last the per cent of self feeder space for protein supplement.

This bulletin also covers internal and external parasites and is available by writing or calling the

Anna Maria Opening New Career Doors

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A new Anna Maria Alberghetti is back in town for a glance behind the doors that once were closed to her.

Anna hit the big time as the waif Lili in "Carnival" on Broadway. She is glowing evidence of what a difference a hit play makes.

"Before I left Hollywood, I was earning good money, but many doors were closed to me," she remarked. "I decided that if I was to open those doors, I would have to take a chance. And going to Broadway is a chance because if you don't make it, the doors can be more tightly shut."

She made it, and the results have been gratifying.

"Before, I was known as a singer," she said. "Now I am also known as an actress. The whole field of the stage is now open to me. And so are movies."

Anna is here on a two-week pass from the employ of David Merrick, producer of "Carnival." He has been termed the Abominable Showman, and seemed eager to live up to the title when Anna was ill and out of the show earlier this year. He proclaimed publicly that her understudy did a better job.

The Italian-born soprano returned to the show after five days in the hospital and five at her apartment. Oddly, she displayed no rancor toward Merrick. She repeated their conversation.

"I had to protect my show," said the producer.

"David, you should let me in on these publicity stunts, so I can go along with them," she said. "I'm certainly not against publicity. But please, let's do something with a little dignity."

"How about the six-month extension?" said he.

Anna sees the whole thing as Merrick's plot to get her to sign for another half year in the show after the June 30 deadline. She said he was doubly disappointed; that she had made no move to re-sign; that she failed to flare back when he slurred her performance.

"You're not like Callas," he said disappointedly.

Despite the beef, relations between Anna and Merrick are surprisingly good. She said that he came backstage on the last night before her vacation and gave her a hug and kiss.

"Careful, David," she told him. "You'll ruin your publicity."

It was on that last night that she realized she needed a vacation. She was all tears after the curtain went down and sobbed to her replacement, "Take care of my puppets."

livered to their new home. Wisconsin calves suffered a bad reputation and this concerned some reliable Wisconsin dairymen.

The practice of clipping teats back-fired on a few occasions when out of state buyers were sold calves that were minus one or more teats. Notching at least gets the story over to the alert buyer without exciting his wrath when he finds calves he has purchased for replacements do not have four teats.

Foot Rot

Foot rot is frequently a problem in fall and winter seasons. It is worse in wet weather than in dry seasons. Foot rot can cause enough discomfort to reduce milk production and general health. Serious damage to the feet is likely if animals are neglected. Examine animals that show signs of being "tender footed." Start treatment promptly if disease is present.

Works With Fertilizer

Lime Is Important to Production Team

By ALVA L. PRESTON, JR.,
MU Extension Soils Specialist
COLUMBIA (Special)—You've probably heard the question, "Where do you stand on lime?" many times. And you may be wondering why we are asking it again. Well, the reason is simple. Lime is a part of the production team. And, a shortage of lime is about like having a balky horse on one side of the wagon.

While there aren't many horses or mules left on Missouri farms, you can probably remember when they were a part of the farming picture. You can remember, too, that there was a lot of satisfaction in working a well-matched, well-broken team of horses or a span of mules. You can also recall the trouble you had when one was a little balky, cold-shouldered, or too light for the job.

Now limestone and fertilizer may be a different sort of a pair, but there is a similarity. The two of them do make a team. And they pull together. If you're short one — well, results can be as disappointing as trying to work a balky horse.

Let's

BREAKUP AFTER 18 YEARS

Sultry-voiced Dinah Shore, new singer on Ben Bernie's radio program back in 1940.

Handsome real-life cowboy uses his knowledge of horses to become a western movie hero—George Montgomery in 1941.

George carries his bride over threshold after their Las Vegas wedding in 1943.

Dinah and George cut cake to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary in 1953.

Another of Hollywood's dream matches is at an end. TV's sultry-voiced Dinah Shore and cowboy actor George Montgomery decided to call it quits after 18 years of marriage. Dinah wed Montgomery, then bound for the Air Force, in 1943. Although she rose to great heights as a TV performer, Dinah subordinated her career to family and home. Dinah, 44, and Montgomery, 45, are parents of two daughters: Melissa, 12, and Jodi, 6.

Off-Broadway Play Winds Up Long Run

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Three Penny Opera" is over. Off-Broadway's long-run champ rang down the final curtain Sunday night after 2,612 performances. It closed with a sigh, a few tears and the pop of champagne corks.

The play, which made "Mack the Knife" a latter-day hit, had more performances than Broadway's current long-run champ, "My Fair Lady." The Lerner-Loewe musical, which opened in 1956 and is still running, had the benefit, however, of a much larger house.

The all-time Broadway long-run king is "Life With Father," which closed after 3,213 performances.

An overflow audience packed the 199-seat Theater de Lys in Greenwich Village for a quietly sentimental farewell.

Producers Carmen Capalbo and Stanley Chase—who almost didn't get permission to do the show eight years ago—stood at the back of the house. Capalbo had directed 706 players in 22 roles since the premiere on Sept. 20, 1955.

In an aisle seat was Lucille Lortel, their partner. Nearby was Marc Blitzstein, who made the English-language adaptation of the words Bertolt Brecht wrote to the mocking Kurt Weill score.

"Everyone has long faces, but I don't see why," said Miss Lortel before the performance began. But when it was done, she turned and whispered: "Oh, but I'm going to miss it!"

Toiletry Goods Industries Enjoy Yuletide Sales Boom

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The vendors of prepared beauty are looking toward their biggest Christmas. The ythank the durable personal vanity of women—and men.

The sales of toiletry articles grow in bad times as well as good. In a recession people skimp on other things first. In good times, as this Yule season, they spend a little extra on gifts.

Sales of personal care items since 1954 have grown faster than the population explosion or the increase in personal income.

Some of the biggest jumps in sales volume in recent years have been in toilet goods for males, such as preshave products and shaving cream in aerosol cans. But growth rates also have soared on such items as spray half fixatives, rinses, tints and dyes—presumably sold mainly to females.

All of this impresses Wall Street, particularly as total annual sales are estimated at $2 billion, with maybe $325 million of that for personal care items for men.

But picking individual winners among the makers of all these aids to beauty is another matter. That's because of the "ever-changing female taste" as pointed out in a special report on "The Economic Characteristics of the Cosmetics Industry" by a staid investment fund, the Tri-Continental Corp.

This means that members of the cosmetics industry "must constantly develop new products, improve old ones, and carefully evaluate all competitors' products in order to maintain competitive position," the investment firm's economist explains.

In other words, this month's favorite may be next month's has-been.

But there's no question about the growth of the industry. Total sales in 1950 were around $900 million with the population at 152 million and enjoying personal income after taxes of $208 billion. By 1960 personal care sales were nearing $2 billion, for a population of 180 million with $352 billion to spend.

The fund's statistician, using 1950 as a base of 100, puts the growth index of sales at 195, of population at 120, and income at 169.

Food stores, particularly the chains, have been chalking up the biggest gains as cosmetic and toiletry outlets, now accounting for 23.5 per cent. Drugstores have been losing in percentage of the total but still lead in dollar volume, with food stores now second, followed by house-to-house selling, and department and specialty stores.

How do the financial beagles view the prospects? For the industry as a whole—not individual firms, remember—they foresee certain expansion.

For one thing, cosmetic buying is increasing among the younger age groups—where the population is busily exploding.

For another, the amount of income controlled by women seems destined to go on increasing. The percentage of women in the labor force is on the upgrade. This means more money to spend. But it also means, as the investment economists put it: "As more and more women come into the labor force and as they also become competitive with men in many areas of employment their desire to look attractive can only increase."

Christmas Every Day for Family Of Quadruplets

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—It's been Christmas every day for the Feyre family since the birth of their quadruplets 8½ months ago.

Letters and cards of congratulation for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Feyre, parents of Holyoke's quads, still arrive daily from many parts of the world. The Feyres have six other children.

These messages bear wishes of joy at the rare quadruple birth, said to occur only once in every 750,000 births.

"You'd think that the quads would be all work," says Mrs. Feyre, 36, "but it's not like that. There is always something to laugh about and something new to talk about every day. It seems as though we've had Christmas all along."

The favorite toys of Robert, Maureen, Margaret, and James are discarded cereal boxes. But this week, they're tugging at the legs of two rubber reinderr.

Each quad will receive a small stuffed toy from the parents this Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. Feyre are planning an inexpensive yuletide for the babies and "one gift that they would really like" for the other six children in the family.

Lays Down Challenge

Kennedy's Latin Reception Could Prove Boost for US

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—President Kennedy's reception in his bold venture into Latin America—particularly the wildly happy outpouring in Bogota—can prove an important shot in the arm for U.S. policy.

Here Kennedy put this challenge to the wealthy class of Latin America: Reform yourselves or face violent revolution and destruction.

This is a challenge to peaceful revolution many young Latin Americans have been waiting to hear, and Kennedy has told them the Alliance for Progress stands ready to lead it.

The Kennedy journey, despite some gloomy advance prophecies of disaster, took on a look of success likely to go a long way in persuading Congress to foot bills for the alliance program.

The results of the trip must be painful to Communists and followers of Cuba's Fidel Castro.

The trip could have resulted in headaches for Washington if there had been any show of violence or hostility. There were plenty of possibilities. In Venezuela, the Communists, though small in number, are tightly organized and disciplined.

There were many rumors that Castroists and Communists would try and sabotage the Kennedy trip. Communists boasted in Caracas they would stage something spectacular. It never came off.

This indicates the Communists and Castroists do not have it so easy as might be suspected from the noise they make. It also suggests room exists for bold action in Latin America such as the President undertook with his journey.

Extremists faced a dilemma. To act was dangerous. Not to act was to give the Yankees an opportunity to dramatize their alliance program to Latin Americans and score a propaganda victory.

Communists apparently decided on the side of caution.

In Bogota's case there seems little doubt the Communists themselves issued orders against demonstrations, probably certain in advance such acts would fail in the face of President Alberto Lleras Camargo's security precautions.

Had the Communists persisted in an attempt, it would have given Lleras Camargo, who rules under state of siege powers, the chance to round up Red leaders.

In the second place, there is a real affection for the Kennedys among Colombians. Communists stood to lose, locally at least, more than they might gain by trying to kick up a fuss. Many of the Castro extremists were rounded up in advance of the visit and held in jail.

Heated Fight Will Conclude With Election

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—One of the hottest two-party political fights in Louisiana in years winds up Tuesday when the 4th District elects its new congressman.

A larger-than-normal absentee vote in the largest of the north-west Louisiana district's seven parishes indicated high interest in the election between Democrat Joe D. Waggoner and Republican Charlton H. Lyons Sr.

Waggoner, 43, of Plain Dealing, a member of the State Board of Education, remained a strong favorite to succeed the late Rep. Overton Brooks despite the vigorous campaign by Lyons, 67, Shreveport oilman.

The district has not elected a Republican since 1873.

The winner will serve until January 1963.

Both candidates are segregationists and extreme conservatives. Their platforms are similar.

Lyons has argued he can do more for the district's basic beliefs than "another Southern Democrat." Waggoner countered by stating that Southern Democrats have "preserved states' rights down through the years."

An indication of the degree of Lyons uphill struggle is in the district's registration figures. About 97 per cent of the 95,221 registered voters are Democrats.

But Lyons has the editorial backing in the Shreveport Times, the only daily morning paper in the district, and two smaller papers.

The Republican presidential ticket, with more than 40 per cent of the vote, led both the States Rights party's unpledged electors (including Waggoner) and the Democrats in the 1960 election.

At the same time, however, Brooks defeated Republican Fred McClanahan 46,286-16,827. Brooks became a Republican last year after having been a registered Democrat for 45 years.

As the campaign neared the finish line, Waggoner defended his running on the Democratic ticket after backing the States Rights party in last year's presidential campaign.

He said that Lyons "has been a registered Democrat longer than I have been alive." Lyons

Christmas Cards Indicate Degree of Your Popularity

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One test of your popularity is the number of Christmas cards you get. If you're average, you should receive at least 16 of the 3 billion seasonal cards mailed this month.

Incidentally, the first U.S. commercial Christmas card was created by Louis Prang, a Boston Lithographer, in 1873. It depicted a budding rose.

Marital statistics: About 200,000 teen-age girls marry each year, but only about 30,000 teen-age boys.

One price of prosperity: Americans spent $146 million for headache-type pain relievers in 1955. In 1960 they spent $240 million.

Royal vanity: Elizabeth, empress of Russia, was so fond of the color pink she made it a crime for any other woman in her empire to wear it.

We are justly proud of our medical progress, but nine nations still have lower infant death rates than the United States. They are Sweden, Holland, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, Britain, Denmark, New Zealand and Finland.

Our quotable notables: "Fun is like life insurance: The older you get, the more it costs."—Kin Hubbard.

The Doral Country Club in Miami plans to introduce something new in American golfing next month—girl caddies. In France and Japan women caddies monopolize the field.

History lesson: Horse racing long has been known as "the sport of kings." The first monarch to establish his own stable was Henry VIII of England, also famous for his love of palace fillies.

Nature notes: The venom of a black widow spider is 15 times as potent as that of a rattlesnake. That old myth about eagles carrying off human toddlers just isn't true. Adult eagles weigh about 12 pounds and can lift only about 7 pounds.

Wise crack of the week: Actor Oscar Homolka tells of the rich African chief who bought himself a two-tone vehicle—a zebra.

Fear of automation isn't new. In 1851 when Barthelmeay Thimmonier, a manufacturer of French military uniforms, tried to introduce the first sewing machines into his Paris factory, 300 tailors rioted and burned his plant.

You just can't escape those commercials! A new talking scale now delivers a sales pitch along with your correct weight.

Grape news: Europe and French Algeria produce four-fifths of the world's supply of wines. But in 1960 the average adult American drank only one and two thirds bottles of table wine.

The surface of the moon is arid, but scientists believe they can obtain some water by literally boiling rocks and condensing the resultant moisture vapors.

Youth Ranch Boys Drown In Icy Lake

WRIGHT CITY, Mo. (AP)—Two boys drowned in a small lake Sunday on a youth ranch near Wright City operated by the Rev. Bill Beeny, controversial St. Louis evangelist.

The victims, both of St. Louis, were Edward Brawley, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brawley and Raymond Witt, 12, son of Mrs. Viola Witt.

Beeny told the Highway Patrol the boys apparently went on a walk Sunday afternoon but were not missed until evening church services at the Missouri Youth Ranch, a 420-acre project about six miles south of Wright City.

He notified the patrol early today and officers followed foot tracks to the edge of a one-acre lake.

Officers saw a hole in the ice near the middle of the lake and found a child's cap floating in the water.

The St. Charles volunteer rescue squad broke up the thin ice and the bodies were found in a brief dragging operation.

The lake is on the youth ranch property, the patrol said.

Wright City is about 50 miles west of St. Louis.

Beeny and the ranch's superintendent, Robert Brown, were arrested in September and charged with operating a child care institution without a state license.

Proctor Carter, state director of welfare, had denied the license and said then he had been trying to close the ranch since June of 1959.

We Call It 'Human Aid'

As in too many other fields these days, people tend to regard foreign aid as something that is strictly the government's business. The private citizen may praise or lament it, may call it wasteful boondoggling, but aside from paying his taxes and perhaps writing his congressman, he will feel that he has little to do with it.

In its broader aspect, however, foreign aid ought to mean simply people helping people. It is by no means something which only the government can engage in.

Numerous private individuals are actively carrying on charitable, educational, medical and other work abroad. In the field of medicine, an inspiring example is an international detective story involving the people of Yugoslavia and doctors from Metropolitan General Hospital and Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

The story began two years ago when a Yugoslav doctor came to see Dr. Charles H. Rammelkamp, professor at Reserve's medical school and one of the country's leading epidemiologists.

The visitor told of a mysterious epidemic—apparently some kind of kidney disease—raging in the Sava River valley of northern Yugoslavia and causing literally thousands of deaths a year. His government and colleagues were unable to cope with the problem.

Shortly afterward, two Yugoslav immigrant families appeared at Metropolitan with the strange infection. The death of one member of the group sent Reserve doctors into action.

Dr. Rammelkamp and Dr. Richard Krause, a Reserve graduate now at the Rockefeller Institute, went to Yugoslavia and toured the valley for two weeks. They reported that the scenes they saw were reminiscent of the Plague, with whole families of peasants being stricken. They estimated that at least 30,000 of the inhabitants were in the last stages of uremia (inability to eliminate bodily toxins).

In the past year, other doctors have gone to the valley and brought back specimens of the soil, water, farm products and even a frozen kidney from one of the victims. Evidence points to a toxic agent used in fertilizer as the cause of the disease.

The final chapter awaits a second visit to Yugoslavia by Rammelkamp, who hopes to make arrangements for sending a team of medical researchers to the spot to test the theory.

Whatever the outcome, this is the sort of foreign aid that will be remembered by the people of Yugoslavia for years to come. It is not the sort of foreign aid that can be legislated by Congress. It is not the sort of foreign aid that can be measured in millions or billions of dollars.

It is human aid.

Defense Ministers Are Potent Force

By DREW PEARSON

CARACAS. — The most important man in every Latin-American country — next to the President — is the Minister of Defense. Sometimes he is more important than the President, for on him depends whether or not the President is thrown out or remains in office.

In Brazil this year, the Army intervened to block Vice President Goulart from taking over the full presidency. In Ecuador, the Air Force, some of its officers trained in the USA, threw its weight behind Vice President Arosemena and put him in the presidency. In Argentina the Army and Navy hold the future of President Frondizi in their hands. In Venezuela in the past, military men have thrown out civilian presidents, taken over the government.

The present Venezuelan Minister of Defense is Antonio Briceno Linares, a General of the Venezuelan Air Force, who has served with the U.S. Air Force and U.S. Navy at Maxwell Field, Ala., Corpus Christi, Tex., and other bases.

General Briceno is a modest, friendly officer who lives in a comfortable but not luxurious home with a small garden around it on the edge of Caracas.

"We must raise the flag of economic and social reform," the General told me over the lunch table. "We must have a democratic left of center government, such as Betancourt's."

These words, coming from a military man, yet paraphrasing President Kennedy's ideas on the social reforms, surprised me. But the General continued.

Battle Front Against Communism

"The battle front in the war against communism is no longer in Europe," he said earnestly. "It is right here in the Caribbean. We in Venezuela know that; and we know we have to set an example to all Latin America. What we do will be watched everywhere."

"Dictators don't cure anything or achieve anything," said the man who probably has the power to throw out the present democratic government and create a dictatorship. "They only make matters worse. We have had dictator after dictator. The country is tired of them."

"I can tell you that only .006 per cent of the officers in the Venezuelan Air Force have had anything to do with revolutionary movements. I have had a survey made and I am in a position to know."

The young Defense Minister of Venezuela sounded somewhat like the young Minister of Defense, Robert McNamara, who Kennedy has picked to run the unwieldy Pentagon, and who has cracked down on Generals and Admirals who barge into politics. The difference is that the Venezuelan Defense Minister, unlike McNamara, is a military man.

Alliance For Low Taxes

This luncheon conversation throws light on why Kennedy's Alliance for Progress has fallen flat in most of Latin America, but is ahead of schedule here.

Kennedy has laid down the formula that Latin Americans must help themselves, that the United States is not going to pour money into a country without social reforms. And part of these reforms must be higher taxes. The oligarchies of Latin America have ruled for three centuries by taxing the lower classes without proportionate levies against themselves.

And there has been an alliance between the military and big business in most of Latin

Guest Editorial

CHICAGO SUN-TIMES We Prefer Taxes.—Income taxes on dwarfs and persons earning up to 60 rubles a month ($24 on the free money market) have been abolished in the Soviet Union. Taxes on persons earning 61 to 70 rubles were cut 40 per cent. By October, 1965, all taxes on workers will be ended, Premier Khrushchev has promised.

This isn't such a wonderful break for Soviet workers as they may think. No exemption for dwarfs exists in the United States but anyone earning as little as $24 a month not only pays no taxes but would qualify for public aid.

We'll take the American system even with high taxes to the taxless Soviet system. Here we have taxation, but we have representation, too.

America for low taxes.

Venezuela, under the new democratic action administration of Betancourt, has been one of the few exceptions. And even President Betancourt has had rough sledding.

When he assumed office he appointed a tough Minister of Finance, Jose Antonio Mayobre, who had lived in exile in the United States and who drafted a graduated personal income tax similar to that of the United States. He doubled income taxes in the higher brackets, put a tax on profits from land speculation and stock-market operations. As a result, five insurance companies which had been speculating went bankrupt, a hue and cry of financial persecution went up from both Venezuelan and American businessmen, and money began leaving for New York and Switzerland.

As a concession to indignant bankers, Betancourt promoted Finance Minister Mayobre to be Ambassador to Washington. However, the new tax reforms still stand and some of the leading American companies, led by Standard Oil's creole, have brought investment money back to Venezuela.

In Mexico, Finance Minister Ortiz Mena is also toughening up the fairly lenient Mexican tax system to meet Kennedy's Alliance for Progress. But in most of Latin America, JFK's suggestion has drawn a big fat zero. The oligarchies just aren't going to tax themselves.

Business Leader

One do-it-yourself Venezuelan businessman is Eugenio Mendoza who has pioneered a new low cost housing plan for his country.

Mendoza, a most progressive businessman in Caracas, decided he could do something about helping those less fortunate. After studying the mass housing program of Gov. Luis Munoz Marin in Puerto Rico, he developed a house of poured concrete slabs and has produced 2,500 of them for his own employees at $4,000 each. Working on a mass-production basis and with some simplifications, Mendoza has brought the price down to $1,000 per house.

Recently the Development Loan Fund in Washington was so impressed with his idea that it advanced $5,000,000 to promote Mendoza's low-cost housing in Venezuela.

Seeing Red

Soviet Premier Khrushchev says troubled international waters can be quickly calmed if the United States will stop stirring them.

He says almost the same thing in urging a 1962 military budget roughly 5 per cent above his original 1961 proposals. The boost, says Mr. K., is needed to meet U.S. "aggression" and a NATO arms build-up.

It is all clear: Free men can have peace, any time they wish. They have only to yield to the varied forms of Red pressure. Any resistance will be defined in Moscow as "aggression" — and met with additional Communist build-ups and pressures.

But if we must endure for years to come this arrogant nonsense, so must the Reds suffer the "provocation" of our refusal to surrender.

UN Branch in Berlin

Secretary Rusk has come out in favor of moving some posts of the United Nations to Berlin. He said in a recent press conference "I think all of us who are in a position to do something about and think about West Berlin ought to be sympathetic to the idea of establishing activities there which would lend significance to that city."

The Secretary was not in favor however of moving the present headquarters away from New York. Russia and her satellites might like to move the whole organization away from this country entirely, but that would be a very expensive thing to do.

New York seems to be able to house the delegates, and a great deal of money has been put into the building there. There are branch offices of the United Nations in Paris, Geneva and other cities, so it would not be difficult to establish a branch in Berlin or in any other city. The organization is large enough to share its offices with other world communities and any action which would ease the Berlin tension and give added importance to the free city of West Berlin should be carefully considered.

Nehru No Conscience for Mankind

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru, who made himself the world's No. 1 holier-than-thou moralizer and man of peace, can no longer act as the conscience of mankind.

He ranged from critical to indignant when Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt, when the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian revolt, and when the United States backed the rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Now, after Sunday's Indian invasion of tiny Portuguese Goa, he is in the same boat with those he condemned. Goa has 1,537 square miles and 650,000 people on the southwest coast of India, a nation that has 450 million people.

Nehru may have achieved greatness in a number of ways as an Indian leader. But he has preached peace and avoidance of force so much that he has created an unreal image of himself. When he was Mohandas Gandhi's disciple he accepted the master's doctrine of nonviolence as a political weapon simply because it happened to be the right policy at the time India was seeking freedom from Britain.

It was not something he believed in absolutely. He explained once: "The majority of us, I take it, judge the issues not on moral but on practical grounds, and if we reject the way of violence it is because it promises no substantial results." This is the doctrine of opportunism. Taking Goa promised substantial results because it would be easy. Far-off Portugal could hardly make war on India to hold its possessions.

The results if India had attacked Red China would look very much less substantial since the Communists have 650 million people and a far greater military force. Since 1959, when Red China occupied about 12,000 square miles of Indian territory — almost 9 times the size of Goa — Nehru simply has argued.

Nehru has been under great pressure in anticolonial India to seize Goa, which Portugal took in 1510 and still holds as a colony.

Next year is election year in India for Nehru and his Congress party. The prime minister ignored President Kennedy's plea of last Thursday to avoid the use of force.

This was a switch for Nehru, who is the past could always be relied on to deplore the use of force anywhere. He has now adopted the philosophy that might makes right. Portugal has no more right to Goa than Britain had to India or France to Indochina. All three took territory because they had the power to and held the native people under thumb.

This was imperialism. Nehru has been a life-long foe of it. But his action against Goa also is imperialism, although he may call it liberation.

If all this seems a contradiction in the man, perhaps it can be understood by this statement by Frank Moraes, an Indian journalist who knew Nehru a long time and five years ago wrote the story of his life: "It is interesting to see how his mind persuades his conscience of many things."

It explains how he can make a complete turnaround in six years. In 1955, when some Indians suggested taking Goa wasn't much of a military problem, Nehru drew back from the thought of war.

"The fact that a war is a little war doesn't make it less of a war," he said.

Then Sunday he made war, although it was a pretty safe kind of war.

The Doctor Says

Give Yourself a 'Break' In Foul Weather Ahead

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you have just winterized your home and your car, maybe you'd be interested in the following health hints for the protection of your own motor and chassis:

Dress snugly but don't pile layer on layer of clothes. You preserve body heat best by preventing stockings and a form-fitting sweater will do you more good than heavy, bulky outer clothing that catches the wind down your neck, up your sleeves and from down under.

If you heat your home, guard against excessive drying. Moisture the air with steam from a kettle. There's no need to medicate the steam. Certain additives, like tincture of benzoin, will make deposits in the kettle and, from these deposits, irritant odors may be given off.

Ventilate your bedroom at night unless the weather makes it impossible to open a window. Infections are neither caused nor favored by cold or drafts. And, if the weather prevents you from opening the window, try to keep the door open to maintain a circulation of air.

If you try to escape winter by visiting or living in a tropical or semi-tropical climate, don't expose yourself to sunburn.

You'll get all the benefits there are to get out of sunshine if you permit yourself a gentle tan and a mild flaking of your skin. Beyond this, you'll dry and toughen your skin and maybe invite the growth of a skin cancer.

Don't try to outsmart nature by use of suntan preparations or sunburn preventives. Don't go Hollywood and wear tinted glasses unless they are recommended by your physician or your eye consultant and made to your prescription. Then, if wear them you must, leave them off if you drive at night.

To prevent skin drying, flaking and "winter itch," whether from overheated rooms of overexposure to sun, keep your skin lubricated. Use the least expensive, nonmedicated preparation such as alboline cream (nonscented). Particularly use it between your fingers and toes, on your scalp, under your breast, in the groin and crotch, and in your ear canals, first dry with a cotton applicator and then apply with a twirling motion. And for lubrication of your nasal passages, use a fine spray of a nonmedicated mineral oil.

If you're past middle-age, pregnant or a victim of a chronic disease of any sort, ask your doctor if he favors immunization with influenza virus vaccine (NOT influenza bacillus vaccine or any mixed vaccine).

Whether or not immunized, keep at least arm's length from anyone who has an upper respiratory infection of any sort, including appealing children and the most lovable of infants.

Boat Commission

"Well Received"

With their bright red patrol boats high and dry for the winter, enforcement officers of the Missouri Boat Commission now are engaged in a program designed to promote boating safety.

Executive Secretary J. T. Johnson says the commission activities have been well received since officers first took to the water late this past summer.

"I'm tickled pink," he exclaimed. "We got excellent help and co-operation from sheriffs and others charged with law enforcement. We have been able to perform a real service."

The law creating a Missouri Boat Commission and prescribing safety regulations for boats operated on the waters of the state was enacted three years ago but no money was appropriated for it until this year. With appropriation in hand, the commission appointed its executive secretary who in turn set up a staff which includes eight enforcement officers, acquired patrol boats and other equipment, and fielded this force for the first time last August.

Now that the boating season is finished, the commission's patrol boats are "winterized" and the enforcement officers are traveling about their districts making speeches and giving demonstrations on boating safety and are continuing their contacts with various law enforcement officers.

A project underway this winter, too, is a survey of the Gasconade River to determine its use by boats during the cold months.

The Boat Commission further has been accorded free space at three major boat shows early next year. They are in Kansas City Jan. 26 through Feb. 4; St. Louis, Feb. 16 through Feb. 26; and Springfield, March 6 through 11, according to Secretary Johnson. The commission will have a display of safety devices for boats.

In the nine weeks officers operated on state waters this year, some 3,500 applications for boat licenses were received. These licenses, good for three years and required for all boats mounting more than 10 hp. engines, now number approximately 45,000. They cost $5 apiece and so sales thus far have brought more than $200,000.

Most boats in harbor on various Missouri lakes and rivers now are registered in compliance with the Missouri Boat Law, Johnson believes. However, he says there are quite a few "weekend" boats, or those brought to the lakes from home, still not registered. "We will make a drive to sign these next year," he promised.

Also during their first nine weeks on the water, commission officers issued 580 violation tickets and contacted another 1,000 boat owners on law violations.

"I'm sure, too," Johnson says, "that the mere presence of our boats on the waters of the state made a contribution to boating safety."

Johnson also announces that his officers have been deputized and can make arrests. The boat law fails to accord them this authority. He says, too, that officers will be armed after Jan. 23 when they will attend a State Highway Patrol school at Rolla on the handling and use of firearms. Johnson expects the officers to break out their boats and be on the waters again by late March.

In addition to signing up "weekenders" and regular activity, Johnson promises 1962 will see an intensive program to promote safety in water skiing.

"This fast-growing sport can be dangerous to life and limb unless participants know what they are doing and observe certain safety rules," Johnson says.

Market Service Adds

Egg Report

A daily market report covering eggs now is being issued by the Marketing Division of the Missouri Department of Agriculture.

Contained in the published report is a wealth of data on poultry and eggs drawn largely from the wires of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Also included is the most thorough report of prices paid producers for consumer grades in western Missouri in the state's history.

Marketing Director Bratton Wallace says the service in western Missouri includes some 37 counties, most of which are located in the present three crop reporting areas of that part of the state.

The egg report is the latest project of the newly-organized Marketing Division which this year has reported grain for eastern Missouri, turkeys and watermelons.

Buyers throughout the western area will be contacted daily for prices paid. Not only that, but Wallace says producers will be contacted as to prices received.

"This double-check will help insure accuracy of our figures," he says.

Western Missouri prices will be carried by press association wires.

A printed report will be issued every day, too, and will contain the material from the USDA along with the local news. Included in the first printed release was the situation in Arkansas, Iowa, St. Louis, Chicago, New York and a report from Washington, D. C., along with western Missouri. The printed report is free for the asking.

Two Protested Novels Remain On Reading List

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—“The Good Earth” and “Drums Along the Mohawk” will continue available for reading by students of Pontiac’s two high schools.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent, has rejected protests of a group of 12 parents who charged the books were unsuitable reading for children 15 to 18 years old.

The parents said the books contained “degrading language” and were “vulgar, profane and filthy.”

“The Good Earth,” by Pearl S. Buck, will “remain available to teachers for use as required reading,” Dr. Whitmer said. “Drums Along the Mohawk,” by Walter L. Edmonds, will be optional reading.

Dr. Whitmer said he had the informal support of the Board of Education. “This decision was reached after a staff study. We asked the opinions of teaching personnel and citizens,” he said.

Nathaniel Hawthorne’s “The Scarlet Letter” has been mentioned in the discussion. However, Dr. Whitmer said there had been no protest regarding that book.

Dear Ann Landers: I’m 13 years old and turning into a nervous wreck.

My little brother is six. He can get anything he wants from Mom if he nags her long enough. When she says no he just keeps at her until she charges her answer. I have to give in to him all the time. He screams and kicks until my mother orders me to give in, because she can’t stand the noise.

The other evening I had some girl friends over and we were watching a TV show. He kept changing the channel. I finally told him to keep his hands off the set or leave the room. He called my mother and threw such a fit that she made me change the channel to the show he wanted. I was humiliated to death in front of my guests.

What advice can you give me?—SISTER.

Dear Sister: It’s your mother who needs the advice. That son of hers is going to develop into a thoroughly obnoxious adult, totally unequipped to get along with the world, if your mother doesn’t clamp down and teach him to respect the rights and privileges of others.

And she is being unfair to you. I hope you will show your mother this column. If she would like details, ask her to write to me.

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are forever harping on the subject of a separate roof for every family I’d like to let you know that I CAN work. Listen to this:

My husband passed away three months ago. My children decided I should not be alone. My home is on three acres of land. I have seven bedrooms, a cook, a housekeeper and a maid. My son and his family (3 children) are moving in with me next week. My daughter, her husband and their two children are moving into the annex as soon as it is completed. We are all looking forward to living together with great pleasure. Everyone is thrilled. So you see you CAN be wrong.—MOTHER.

Bedroom Pistol Duel Fatal To Two Adversaries

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—A bedroom pistol duel, witnessed by the wife of one victim, took the lives of an Army sergeant and a police detective Sunday.

M. Sgt. Dow Farrar, 35, home on emergency leave from Germany, found his estranged wife, Lillian, with police Lt. R. A. Davis, 37, said Detective Capt. Cleo Stout.

Capt. Stout said Farrar was granted leave two weeks ago after his wife filed for divorce.

Stout said the soldier invaded the home of Mrs. Leatha Chiles, a friend of his wife, in search of Davis and Mrs. Farrar. He found them hiding in a closet.

“Come out or I’ll shoot,” he said. Farrar counted to three before firing several shots. Davis was hit twice. He returned the fire and Farrar fell with three wounds in the abdomen.

'Dead Baseball' Era Slugger Dies Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO — Ping Bodie, 74, one of major league baseball's colorful characters four decades ago, died Sunday.

Bodie was an American League outfielder for nine seasons, with the Chicago White Sox 1911-14, the Philadelphia Athletics in 1917, and the New York Yankees 1918-21. He was a roommate of Babe Ruth's while playing for the Yankees.

Bodie, a slugger of the dead ball era was christened Francis Pezalla. He derived his baseball name from the "ping" of his bat when it met the ball and a ghost mining town he once lived in, Bodie, Calif.

Bodie inspired Bugs Baer's line about an unsuccessful attempt to steal a base—"Ping had larceny in his heart, but his feet were honest"—and furnished material for Ring Lardner's famous baseball fiction series, "You Know Me, Al."

He stayed in baseball until 1928, when he batted .348 in the Pacific Coast League.

For the next 32 years, Bodie worked as an electrician in Southern California movie studios.

Bluebonnet People See Game Profit

HOUSTON — A final audit of the Bluebonnet Bowl's box office probably won't be finished for several weeks, but the bowl president says he anticipates a profit.

Bob Abercrombie, president of the Greater Houston Bowl Association, revealed the bowl has not lost money in its three year history.

Kansas, a three point underdog, put on a second half rush to stun Rice 33-7 in Saturday's game.

About 52,000 fans turned out for the chilly, wet nationally televised game in Rice Stadium.

The bowl drew 52,000 its first year and 66,000 last year. Abercrombie said 61,000 tickets were sold this year but the weather apparently kept some people home.

The Jayhawks, used an old football fundamental—the double reverse to score twice and Rice Coach Jess Neely winced each time.

"I'd like to congratulate Kansas Coach (Jack) Mitchell and his fine team on the very good football lesson they gave us," Neely said at the bowl banquet.

John Hadl, the Kansas quarterback who ran a faked punt 41 yards to set up a touchdown, made the game's most electrifying play. It also set up the touchdown that put Kansas ahead to stay.

Kansas had a 6-3-1 record before the bowl game — its second post season trip in history—and Rice had a 7-3 mark.

Kansas led 12-7 at halftime and it looked to be the close, offensive game Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin predicted.

Martin's team provided the only common foe of the season, beating Kansas and losing to Rice.

But Mitchell told his boys to compensate for Rice's man in motion and put on a harder rush. They did and won by the most lopsided score in the bowl's short history.

The money each school will derive from the game has not been announced.

To Meet Packers

East Grid Title Goes To Giants

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants, rebuilt by trades, rookies and a first-year coach, are champions of the National Football League's Eastern Conference for the fourth time in six years and aiming at the title game against Green Bay's powerful Packers at Green Bay on Dec. 31.

It will be a replay of a regular season meeting at Milwaukee, Dec. 3, which the Packers won 20-17, but rookie coach Allie Sherman of New York thinks the result may be different.

"Green Bay is the best club we've played," Sherman said after the Giants wrapped up the title Sunday in a 7-7 tie with the Cleveland Browns at Yankee Stadium. "But we'll be better next time, both physically and mentally. We'll be loose from now on."

The Giants may shudder for a day or two before they "loosen up," regardless of what Sherman may think. Except for a flubbed pass by sure-handed Ray Renfro, the New Yorkers would instead be spending this week getting ready for a division playoff with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles, needing a victory over Detroit and a New York loss to tie the Giants, did their part—beating the Lions 27-24 with 10 points in the last four minutes for a 10-4 record. But the Giants held them off by a half game at 10-3-1 because the Browns blew a sure victory over New York when Renfro dropped a 34-yard pass from Milt Plum on the Giants' 8-yard line with about three minutes to play.

Renfro said "that's something I'll remember a long time" and the Giants will, too.

New York, rebuilt with deals that brought Del Shofner, Y. A. Tittle, Joe Walton and Erich Barnes and the addition of rookies Greg Larson, Bobby Gaiters and Joel Wells, scored its only touchdown in the first period on Tittle's 7-yard pass to Wells. Cleveland got even when Plum hit Leon Clarke on a 38-yard pass play in third quarter. Thereafter, the tremendous punting of Don Chandler, the rugged Giant defense and Renfro's blunder kept the teams in a knot.

Green Bay 11-3, which clinched the Western Division title two weeks ago, closed out with a 24-17 triumph over Los Angeles; Washington snapped a 23-game winless streak, 34-24 over Dallas; St. Louis blanked Pittsburgh 20-0; and the Chicago Bears, with Billy Wade coming off the bench and passing for 355 yards and four touchdowns, whipped Minnesota 52-35 in other season closing games. Baltimore edged San Francisco 27-24 Saturday afternoon in their closer.

MORE MORE MORE MORE
Sonny Jurgensen threw for three touchdowns and pushed his record passing yardage to 3,716 and his season TD total to 32. His passing also set up a 10-yard field goal by Bobby Walston, now the NFL career scoring leader with 833 points. That won it for the Eagles with 25 seconds remaining. The Eagles' consolation is a meeting with the Lions at Miami, Jan. 6 in the Runnerup Bowl, matching the second-place clubs in each division.

Dick James scored four touchdowns and rookie Norm Snead passed for one TD and scored another as Washington ended its winless string. Ironically, the Skins started their nosedive after beating Dallas on Oct. 9, 1960.

A 17-yard run by Elijah Pitts, who helped Tom Moore fill in for the absent Paul Hornung, won for Green Bay at Los Angeles and overcame two sparkling touchdowns by the Rams' Dick Bass. Bass raced 55 yards from scrimmage and 90 yards on a punt return to shove Los Angeles into the lead before the Packers came back on a 28-yard field goal by Ben Agajanian and Pitts' game-winning run. Green Bay fullback Jim Taylor failed in his bid to succeed Jimmy Brown of Cleveland as the league rushing champion—winding up with 1,307 yards to 1,407 for Brown, who took the title for the fifth straight year.

Hornung, although he was confined to Ft. Riley, Kan., without his usual weekend pass, wound up the league scoring king for the third straight year, with 146 points.

In the other games: Sam Etcheberry passed for two touchdowns as the Cards wound up at 7-7 with their third straight victory; and Wade's passing enabled the Bears to overcome a quick 14-0 Minnesota lead. Fran Tarkenton of the Vikings ended an exceptional rookie campaign with four touchdown passes.

Sees Many Decisions In College Cage

By The Associated Press
This could be a week of decision for a host of collegiate basketball powers as they put imposing records on the line in an effort to separate the men from the boys.

The ranks of the unbeaten definitely will dwindle with at least two games tonight and Tuesday involving undefeated teams. Several other games on the agenda tonight could produce a surprise or two.

Only one major tournament is scheduled this weekend—the Kentucky Invitational at Lexington, Kan. State, No. 8 in the pre-season Associated Press poll, opposes Xavier of Ohio and Tennessee faces host Kentucky in the opening round Friday night.

An intersectional test tonight features a battle of unbeaten. Fifth-ranked Providence (5-0) and winner of the post-season National Invitation Tourney last spring, visits DePaul (5-0).

Tuesday night St. Bonaventure (6-0) travels to Duquesne (5-0) in a clash between two teams who won tournaments this past weekend. The Bonnies edged Louisville 73-72 to win the Bluegrass Invitational at Louisville while Duquesne turned back Pittsburgh 73-70 in the Steel Bowl final at Pittsburgh.

Two other tournaments were played over the weekend. Tenth-ranked Seattle captured the City of Roses Tourney at Portland, Ore., with a 78-68 victory over St. Mary's and Auburn vanquished Virginia Tech 77-63 in the championship game of the Birmingham Classic.

Ohio State and Cincinnati, rated 12 nationally and each 5-0, are on the road tonight. Ohio State, a 92-72 victor over Chicago Loyola Saturday, meets St. Louis. Cincinnati, which posted its 27th straight triumph at the expense of Marshall 77-49 Saturday, faces Wichita, winner of six of seven starts.

An interesting attraction pits seventh-ranked Duke (6-1) at unbeaten West Virginia (6-0). Duke was knocked from the ranks of the undefeated Friday night by Duquesne in the opening round of the Steel Bowl. But the Blue Devils bounced back to wallop Arizona in a warmup for the Kentucky Invitational. The Wildcats proved rude hosts Saturday in subduing St. John's, No. 9 nationally, 63-50. The loss was the touring New Yorkers' first of the campaign.

Other attractive pairings tonight include New York University (5-0) at Notre Dame, Arizona State (5-0) at Indiana, San Francisco State at Utah State (6-0), Xavier of Ohio at Illinois (4-0) and Temple (5-0) at Kentucky.

The only other member of the top ten besides St. John's to taste defeat Saturday was third-ranked Wake Forest. The Deacons succumbed to Maryland 79-62, making their won-lost record 3-3. Southern California (5-1) rated No. 4, humbled visiting DePaul 75-66, and Purdue (3-1), No. 6, downed Butler 65-57 in other Saturday happenings.

CMSC Coach Fired For Uniform Deal

WARRENSBURG, Mo., (AP)—The contract of Bob Hoff, head football coach at Warrensburg State College, will not be renewed when it expires next May 31.

Dr. Warren Lovinger, school president, gave no specific reason for the action, announced Saturday. Hoff, 29, said he was fired for purchasing $5,000 worth of football uniforms without having the money in the budget.

Hoff, who played football at the University of Iowa, came to Warrensburg this year after coaching at high schools in Iowa City and Fort Dodge, Iowa. His Warrensburg team posted a 3-5 record.

Dr. Glenn R. Gerdes, athletic director and chairman of health, physical education and recreation at Warrensburg three years, announced his resignation Friday, effective June 1.

Sees Cincy As Valley Cage Champ

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Drake couldn't do it. Maybe Wichita can. If not Wichita there's St. Louis and Bradley. But if they can't, the Missouri Valley might as well concede Cincinnati its fifth straight conference basketball championship.

Wichita's chance comes tonight on its home court. In the casual manner befitting a national collegiate champion, Cincinnati breezed by Marshall 77-49 Saturday night for its fifth victory in a row and 27th straight, counting last season.

Wichita, 6-1 so far, has been looking forward to this one, and almost got tripped up Thursday by Ohio University 58-55. Wichita's only loss has been to first ranked Ohio State 85-62.

Ohio State runs up against another Valley member, St. Louis, tonight. St. Louis honed its attack on Iowa Saturday night 79-61.

In other games Saturday, Air Force defeated North Texas State 74-66, and Drake, toppled by Cincinnati from among the unbeaten, soothed some of the sting with an 86-58 wallop of Nevada.

Games this week:
Monday—Cincinnati at Wichita, Iowa State at Drake, Minnesota at Bradley, Tulsa at Oklahoma State, Loyola of New Orleans at North Texas.

Tuesday—Santa Barbara at Tulsa.

Wednesday—St. Louis at Louisville, Hardin-Simmons at North Texas.

Thursday—Hardin Simmons at Tulsa, Santa Clara at Wichita, San Diego State at Drake, Brown at Bradley, Colorado at Cincinnati.

Friday—St. Louis at Stanford.

Saturday—St. Louis at California, Rice at Drake, Western Michigan at Bradley, Santa Clara at Tulsa.

Christmas Tree Lights Convey Yule Greetings

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of Christmas tree lights went on at dusk Sunday along Berlin's Red wall, carrying the greetings of West Berliners to countrymen in the Communist East. The Communists replied over their loud speakers with propaganda and jazz music.

Mayor Willy Brandt symbolically switched on the lights in a moonlit ceremony as a Communist loudspeaker blared in the background.

More than 3,000 West Berliners braved near-zero cold to hear Brandt say, "We need make no demonstrations. The light of these trees will speak our greetings to our countrymen."

More than 800 evergreens placed along the 25-mile barrier of concrete and barbed wire through the city were lighted at twilight. Almost no part of the border was out of sight of at least one.

Broken Water Main Floods City Streets

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A 30-inch water main broke on the city's west side Sunday and in six hours 20 million gallons of water flooded a street and filled several basements.

Hugh G. Carr, city water director, said the break probably was caused by workmen excavating in the rocky, undeveloped hillside south of 31st Street.

The industrial area north of Roanoke Park was without water service for several hours.

AN INVITATION AND A CHALLENGE

COMPARE THE LARK WITH THIS ONE:

F-85?

Why pay higher prices for F-85 when you'll find 1" extra front and rear hiproom and extra legroom both front and rear in The Lark — plus easy, big-door entry with no step-down well, 22% more top horsepower available, too, and much more braking area. Just a sample of the way The Lark outdistances F-85. (Lark V-8 prices begin $333 lower.)
